HEAT STRIKE

With last year the hottest year on record, the theme for 2024's Workers' Memorial Day is the impacts of climate change on occupational health and safety. Deaths at work and employment disruption as a result of global warming, not to mention occupational illnesses caused by polluting fossil fuels, are rising everywhere, and are only expected to increase.

This Summer, we are likely to again experience a record in heat and temperature putting lots of people at risk in the World but also in the UK, especially the elderly, infants and disabled people, but also workers working outdoors with no protection.

We demand the government & employers:

- Set national maximum working temperature
- Put in place a heat wave furlough scheme
- Create Heat Health & Safety measures at work
- Make a climate action plan
